WOMAN CAB DRIVER ABDUCTED BY PAIR

By The Associated Press

PADUCAH, Ky., April 24—Search for a woman taxicab driver by police in Kentucky and Illinois after she was reportedly abducted and attacked by two men who held her prisoner as they drove hundreds of miles was resumed yesterday afternoon, ended today when she appeared at the Paducah police station.

Captain Tilman Pate said that Mrs. Helen Vanover, 24, an Owensboro, Ky., cab driver came to the station about 3 a. m. today and said she fled from the two men after their stolen car was wrecked.

The two men, Pate said Mrs. Vanover related, fled from the wrecked machine. He said she told him the men had attacked her during the more than 12 hours she was held a prisoner.

In Owensboro, Police Capt. Jack Long said that the two men had hired Mrs. Vanover to drive them to Poole, Ky., about 60 miles south, at about 1:30 p. m. yesterday.

Long said that the two men both reported by Mrs. Vanover to be carrying guns, drove to Madisonville, Ky., and then headed for Shawneetown, Ill., about 100 miles west. But the cab stalled on a dirt road about four miles from the Illinois town last night and one of the men went to a nearby farm for help.

Long said that Sheriff W. C. Moye of Gallatin County, Ill., learned that after the farmer and his son came to help, the two men bound them, set fire to the taxicab and drove away in the farmer's car.

Church Lecture Is Given Here

Richard P. Verrall Speaks on "Christian Science: Its Theory and Practice."

A lecture on Christian Science entitled "Christian Science: Its Theory and Practice," was given in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, at Mt. Vernon avenue and Church street Tuesday night by Richard P. Verrall, C.S., of New York City. Mr. Verrall is a member of the board of lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Mr. Verrall said that the efficacy of Christian Science was first demonstrated to him through the reading of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. He stated that in reading this book he was reminded of the words of a famous preacher who said, "I know that the Bible is inspired because it inspires me." The lecturer, too, knew from the first that the Christian Science textbook is inspired, because it so changed his thinking that many tormenting fears and bodily ills which before were rampant gradually disappeared and have never returned.

The mission of Christian Science, the lecturer remarked, is to remove the mystery that is supposed to surround the nature of Godliness, and to enable mankind to have the same Mind that was the sole motivating power of Christ Jesus.

The teachings of Mary Baker Eddy were to him a direct answer to prayer, the speaker asserted, stating that he found in them the answers to the questions that had previously perplexed him, and he discovered that both his reason and his aspiration for spiritual things were satisfied. Many, like himself, who had never dreamed that the reading of a book could heal the sick, were emancipated from both acute and chronic diseases, he said.

The healing influence of Christian Science is purely spiritual, Mr. Verrall pointed out. It is the conscious reunion of mankind with God. It is called "Truth-healing" because, in its practice, Truth destroys error and overcomes evil with good. He continued, and added further that Christian Science is called "Christ-healing," because it is the human surrender to the Christ-idea that destroys both the love of matter and the fear of losing it.

The lecturer asserted that Truth is not coming true; it is true. Mrs. Eddy saw that the prayer, "Thy kingdom come," really means (Science and Health, p. 16), "Thy kingdom is come; Thou art ever-present." It is with this though in mind that the Christian Scientist offers his prayer. He knows that God's work is done, Mr. Verrall affirmed, and that mankind only needs to be awakened from the belief of a separate existence in matter in order to realize that God's kingdom is come. Surely the Apostle Paul must have understood this when he said, 'In Him we live, and move, and have our being."

The speaker closed with the following words which briefly sum up the tenor of Mrs. Eddy's instructions to her followers everywhere (Message to The Mother Church for 1901, p. 24): "Finally, brethren, wait patiently on God; return blessing for evil, but overcome evil with good; be steadfast, abide and abound in faith, understanding, and good works; . . . obey strictly the laws that be, and follow your Leader only so far as she follows Christ."

JET PLANES TO RACE ALONE AT CLEVELAND

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 24 — Jet planes and those powered by conventional reciprocating gasoline engines will be classed separately in the 1946 National Air races, it was indicated today by the preliminary plans for the event, being revived for the first time since the war.

Because of the jets' speed advantage, separate prizes would be given when both types compete in a single race, and several separate events are being considered, sponsors of the program decided at a meeting yesterday.

Under this policy the Thompson trophy race, a 300-mile event over a 10-mile circular course, would have one division for jet planes and another for the older type planes. Whether jet planes would be included in the Bendix transcontinental race from Los Angeles to New York via Cleveland was not decided.

By formal action the sponsoring group set the race period for Friday, Aug. 30, through Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 2, said General Manager Ben T. Franklin.

Definite scheduling of the competitive events will not be attempted until recommendations are received from the contest board of the National Aeronautics association.

YOUR HEALTH

By BERMAN BUNDENSEN, M.D.

Fever

Fever is the body's great battle chart. First, by its very presence, it tells the doctor that a fight against an invader is under way and, by its later ups and downs, shows him how that struggle is progressing.

Ordinarily, of course, fever is not the sole sign of disease. The enemy will betray his presence and identity in many other ways, but sometimes he works so secretly that fever gives the first and only signal that help is needed.

In these cases, the doctor's job is likely to be difficult. He knows that the battle is joined but is unable to identify the masked and hidden foe and until he does, he can do little to aid.

One of these conditions is what is known as postnasal infection. This is an infection in the back part of the nose. However, a careful examination of the sinuses, including the use of X-ray and what is known as transillumination may help show when the difficulty is located in these areas.

Transillumination is carried out by putting the patient in a dark room and shining a light through the sinuses. If there is infection in the sinuses, the presence of secretions or thickening of the membranes will keep the light from passing through.

Of course, many people know that tuberculosis may be present for some time without causing noticeable symptoms other than a slight rise in temperature particularly in the afternoon. According to Dr. F. Kenneth Albrecht of Florida, an early diagnosis of tuberculosis requires the taking of an X-ray of the chest, together with an examination of the sputum for the presence of the tuberculosis germs.

Another cause of hidden or obscure fever is undulant fever. This condition may be present for years without causing enough symptoms to make its diagnosis easy. In fact, fever may be the only symptom present. After a time, however, there may be such things as weakness, loss of weight, anemia or lessening of the coloring in the blood, and mental depression.

There are certain tests which can be made that are helpful. One of these is an agglutination test in which it is determined whether or not the patient's serum will cause the germs known as the Brucella, which cause this disease to collect in clumps. A skin test may also be carried out by injecting killed germs into the skin and noting whether a reaction occurs in the form of redness.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. O.: I have severe headaches and for several days after, my nose needs blowing constantly. I blow out dark red clots and there is also a thick, yellowish discharge from my left eye. What is the cause?

Answer: It is probable that the trouble you have is due to a chronic sinus infection. However, it may be that your symptoms are due to allergy or sensitivity to some pollen or dust, or other substance with which you come in contact.

Examination by a nose and throat specialist would be advisable.

U. S. May Have To "Sell" Corn Idea To Europe First

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The battle between the United States government and black market operators for [illegible] business of corn, grainy needed for relief in foreign famine areas, emphasizes the importance of this grain in the present world-shortage of foodstuffs—an importance recognized in America and a few other corn-countries but not generally appreciated in Europe (outside the Balkans) and Asia.

Corn just fails to save a lot of lives in a normal, and yet it is a peculiar circumstance that literally hundreds of millions in Asia never even heard of this elephant grain, and still other millions in Europe know it (if at all) as feed for pigs and chickens. If the story repeats itself as it should have to conduct a culinary campaign in those countries to which it is sent.

DewittMackenzie

Back in the first World War when England was literally hungry because of the fierce German blockade, Food Administrator Herbert Hoover tried to persuade the Britons to use corn meal for food. I was there at the time and recall that he enlisted the aid of the big daily newspapers which ran full-page ads extolling the virtues of corn bread and other corn foods. Detailed recipes were given for the guidance of the housewife.

But would John Bull eat corn? He would not—said it was fit only for pigs and chickens. He preferred to go hungry. Incidentally John calls it Maize and uses the word "corn" as a generic term for grain in general.

Under normal circumstances it's probable that much of Europe would adopt a similar attitude, but not these days when the plague of starvation is sweeping across the continent. Give them the corn, tell them how to use it, and they may be sure there's a way to cook it.

Of course the Balkans are great growers of corn. In the pre-Hitlerian days I've seen rolling fields of it in areas that they reminded me of Texas. Rumania grows big quantities of corn, and so does Bulgaria. A great deal of it is used for cattle, pigs and poultry but the people of the Balkan peninsula also know its value for human consumption. I had this latter fact impressed on me in surprising fashion in the ancient Bulgarian city of Philippopoli, which gets its name from Philip of Macedon who lived it as one of his frontier posts.

I was strolling through the public market place in the heart of the town when I came upon a group of peasants munching—what do you think? I'll give you three guesses. Sure, it was corn on the cob, being cooked right there in the market.

In normal times the Balkans are able to export corn to other parts of Europe for animals and poultry. Statistics aren't available but it's hardly likely that there's even enough corn for local requirements now. War ruined havoc with agriculture in the Balkans and there hasn't yet been time for rehabilitation. Also there has been a drought in that area.

This corn the hungry Europe and Asia must come mainly from the western hemisphere and from South Africa. Only three ships from South Africa can keep this 50,000,000 bushels from the starving millions of the black-market between the lines have made a mighty contribution to the desperate needs of the hungry millions.

Bear Tracks

NOTHING that might have happened at that point in the curious "friendship" between the Soviet Union and Iran could be more suspicious than censorship on Iranian news.

There is only one reason for censors to try to keep something from getting out of the country that would embarrass politicians in the case of Iran, unfortunately, the politics is outrageous is not entirely clear.

That is, it is not possible to know what of their newly-found Russian friend and ally has clapped a hand over their mouths to keep them from talking, or whether he has given them a signal for them to clap their hand over someone else's mouth.

This is another of the cases in countries on Russia's borders. No one actually has seen the bear, but everyone can see bear tracks. A bear track is strong circumstantial evidence of a bear. Censorship is strong circumstantial evidence of Russian meddling in Iran.

Accidental Monument

THE death of Lord Keynes, Britain's unorthodox economist whose ideas were taken to heart by the Roosevelt administration, finds its country taking note of a statement by 39 of its 48 governors for a balanced budget.

Lord Keynes' best known economic unorthodoxy was the idea of spending away a depression by going into debt. This happened to suit the political requirements of the Roosevelt administration. The Briton's idea and the American strategy of spend-and-spend-and-elect-and-eat made a powerful combination.

If Lord Keynes had searched the world over, he could have found no more impressive tribute to the power of his idea than the monumental debt of the United States. It will remain for many years to come as one of the greatest accidental monuments ever erected to economic unorthodoxy—as well as a monumental accident to the old-fashioned idea that debt should be related to ability to pay.

What Part Shall We Support?

THE claim that everyone should support OPA to stave off inflation runs into one grave difficulty, besides the obvious fact that inflation cannot be staved off because it is already here and being encouraged to get worse by the same administration which claims to be resisting it.

It is impossible to know what part of OPA the cheerleaders expect the people to support. As for themselves, they are supporting every part of it, which is one major reason the public is critical of them. The public is more discriminating in its allegiance.

For example, it does not care to support the part of OPA that enables a fly-by-night business to take over production of some article at several times the allowable sale price of the same article produced by an established firm. That is economically stupid and commercially dishonest.

Nor does it care to support any aspect of OPA representing caprice, or the whims, ignorance and malice of its employes. There is nothing sacrosanct about OPA, despite the calls to worship being issued by its defenders. They are in the awkward and indefensible position of defending something which has become very largely indefensible.

They talk about principles, which are above reproach. The public is talking about practices, which aren't. If OPA honestly thinks it deserves to be preserved in status quo, without interference from the bothersome people or the meddling congress, it should have taken steps long ago to get its status quo in better condition for the showdown.

Union Workmen on the Diamond

WHATEVER becomes of the newest effort to organize professional baseball players, the idea is piquant. Here, surely, in a profession that enables a star to earn what the traffic will bear, is one of the strongholds of individual bargaining.

The unionizing appeal, however, is not to the stars, but to organized baseball's toilers in the vineyard—the players hoping to be stars and the players whose limitations have forced them to abandon their hopes. It is especially to players in the minor leagues, hoping for a chance to go up and struggling to make ends meet while they serve their time of seasoning. There are dozens of these for every famous player in the game, and if the big business of baseball has failed to persuaded them that the game is good, the flickering candle of potential wealth and force the latest attempt to unionize them will have been handed a free trip to first base.

Unfortunately, there is more to the problem than any deliberate oversight by owners, such vexing details as meager gate receipts in apathetic cities, for instance. Perhaps the promoters of union baseball will have an answer for that, too. If they don't, the unexpected consequence of their efforts might be to kill small-time baseball, as another amusement enterprise, the legitimate theater, was killed in its small-time efforts by costs that could not be borne by income.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

One Fact Overlooked in OPA Fuss.

WASHINGTON, April 24—The most significant fact in most accounts of the new OPA controversy over rent was that the regulation would automatically expire more than five months more. The real issue of the controversy was not mentioned. The vocal members of Senate Banking and Currency committee either on the republican minority, when the extension of rent was mentioned, frequently was presented as if it were done under a continuing law. Actually, the extension is not to be more than seven months, and is the only part of the entire OPA program expiring before the expiration date of OPA powers on June 30.

A lot of water may go over many dams in the next eleven months and the continuance of the government's power to act against rents for that long a time could hardly be called destruction of OPA.

Amendments

What angered the administration was the attempt to attach to the rent extension five amendments. Five amendments proposed. What was generally described as "most reasonable points to give dealers and handlers" OPA controversy. One would have to read all of many of the major items of production, autos, rubber and steel. This would depend upon whether one has any faith in OPA's policy on these items and it would require a detailed examination over a week's time to put the case in shape for one item. Frankly I would not attempt to referee the arguments.

Certainly however the general notion of cost plus a reasonable profit does not sound like an unreasonable violation of the controversial points of what OPA is supposed to have been doing.

There was one amendment which seemed to me logically and at least partially to be called "undermining" of OPA as one state Democratic congressman termed the bill, which was approved on a final passage by 265 Democrats including 6 Wallaceites and 148 Republicans. This was the one to drop control of certain articles when their production reaches the level of production of the year July 1, 1939 to June 30, 1941—not so far from the "peak years" it was described as being one of the arguments. Production did not reach a peak until the last year of the war.

Logical

Now it would be entirely logical and sensible for price controls to be removed the moment production reaches current demand. Of course current consumer demand is greater than July 1939-June 1941. It is very much greater, due to the accumulation of demand for consumer goods during the war. It might be unobjectionable to OPA to impose that new formula on creation of regulators, but it would be what fairness demands. Relief of regulations should be timed to the period when production can care for the present demand, when the pressure of shortages for higher prices has been relieved.

The other important amendment called for gradual elimination of subsidies. Frankly, I have never liked subsidies. The theory is wrong to pay from the treasury, which is the money of all the people (and their debt now is heavy), a certain portion of the price which should be paid by the man who buys the article. Not even Mr. Truman has defended subsidies as a permanent proposition. Whether the time limit fixed by the House would work efficiently, again calls for intricate technical knowledge of the effect of the removal on each article at each time.

A revision of the bill by the senate is being proposed by most authorities, but it is not likely to be a full power lease of existing authority as the administration has been demanding.

Just a Minute

By JACK TARVER

And Uncle Sam Will Pay The Piper

It is now revealed that the educational provisions of the GI Bill of Rights are applicable to dancing lessons.

Congress has made every effort to aid the returning serviceman. Money is available with which he can buy a business, build a house or attend one of the better known educational institutions — Yale, Harvard or Arthur Murray's.

This is the veteran is currently faced with a difficult choice: Shall he matriculate at Massachusetts Tech . . . or Roseland Terpsichorean?

Reports are a great many ex-servicemen are enrolling in dancing schools, including—surprisingly enough—not a few former infantrymen.

These latter may have difficulty remembering which is their left foot, after so long with their sergeants telling them both were.

But it's inspiring that, for all the extensive traveling, GI Joe still thirsts after knowledge—if only of how to trip the light fantastic.

Incidentally, mean that it takes two or three years to become graduate dancing masters comes as no surprise to former enlisted men. After all, it took 90 days to make second lieutenants.

Preserving the History of Ohio

The Ohio State Archaeological and Historical society has just issued an illustrated booklet describing the work of the society. Founded in 1885 by a group of men interested in preserving the history of Ohio, the society has developed gradually through the years and now maintains the Ohio State Museum located in Columbus as headquarters, and 50 state memorials in different parts of the state.

Among the collections at the Museum are exhibits of artifacts taken from mounds, village sites and burials of the prehistoric Indians, historic Indian materials and displays which depict the history of Ohio from the earliest pioneers to the present. The animals, plants and minerals of the state are shown in the exhibits of the natural history department.

The Museum building also houses a specialized library containing books, newspapers, paintings, photographs, maps, and manuscripts pertaining to Ohio's history, archaeology and natural history.

In its publications program the Historical society provides printed materials in the various fields of its work and encourages research and writing along these lines by furnishing facilities for publication.

The booklet states that the educational program is designed "to serve both children and adults and provides loan collections of visual aids for all schools of the state. Regular classes visit the Ohio State Museum, guide and lecture service is available to other visiting groups and radio dramatizations of Ohio History are given over the School of the Air program. Each year the Society also offers to the general public a lecture series.

A complete list of the State Memorials and their locations is given. These sites portray to those who visit them, the history of Ohio from prehistoric times to the present. This booklet is free on request to the Ohio State Museum.

Russia Likes Korea Too

Promise of Postwar Independence Revoked.

IN KOREA, soldiers of the United States and the Soviet Union are facing each other across a hastily defined line of separation in an attitude of suspense that might flare into a major international incident.

Korea, though not an enemy country, is "occupied" by American and Russian troops. An arbitrary line marks areas of influence. Efforts to reach an understanding have been fruitless.

In a dispatch from Seoul, capital of Korea, Associated Press Correspondent Morrie Landsberg writes that few Americans have seen what goes on in Russia's section of the country—the part lying north of the 38th parallel. By contrast, the Soviet Union maintains a consulate in Seoul, lying in the American zone, with no restrictions on movement of personnel.

Many Americans, Landsberg says, believe Russia wants primacy in Korea because it has been following the same policy of looting that stripped Manchuria. Northern Korea contained half a dozen important Japanese factories producing bearings, mining machinery, electric and airplane motors, pumps, hoists, precision instruments and steel cable.

Former residents of the Russian zone he continues, say there is no freedom of speech, press, religion or assembly in that sector. The government apparently is in the personal control of Koreans under the name of the People's Committee, controlled by the Communists and supervised by Russians.

"The people have little contact with the outside world," Landsberg reports, "except through dispatches of Tass, official Soviet news agency. Newspapers publish Joseph Stalin's speeches and news about the USSR. American radio news from Seoul is reported jammed. Portraits of Stalin, Lenin and a Gen. Kim Il Sung, chairman of the People's committee, are displayed. Newspapers are critical of developments in the American sector, speaking of Korean officials there as 'fascist' and pro-Japanese."

Complete independence for Korea was promised by the Allies during the war, obviously in the hope of stirring up Korean rebellion against Japan. In events leading up to the Russo-Japanese war early in this century, Korea became to the Japanese government a "dagger" pointed at the nation's heart — the same complaint which Germany was to make before World War II about Czechoslavakia.

Koreans had been promised complete independence during the Sino-Japanese war of 1894-95, which also was fought largely for control of the strategically-situated peninsula. But after conclusion of its unsuccessful war with Japan in 1904-05, Russia conceded that Japan had paramount interest.

Japan continued the military occupation of Korea and in 1910 annexed the country outright.

MAC IS STILL DOING THE DRIVING

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It Was Friday, April 24, 1936.

Democratic leaders in Washington, arranging June Convention plans, considered the idea of holding a giant open air ceremony at Franklin field, Philadelphia, to notify President Roosevelt of his renomination. It was estimated that around 100,000 persons could watch the ceremony and hear the President's speech of acceptance.

Mrs. Helen B. Hardesl, wealthy Cincinnati widow, fought in a court action to obtain return of $15,000 in gems which she said she deposited with operators of a roadhouse for credit to be used in gambling.

Miss Mary Jeannette Fite, a member of one of Marion's distinguished families, died at her home at 341 South Vine street.

Marion Camp No. 32, United Spanish War Veterans and Betsy Ross auxiliary held a joint meeting at the armory to observe the anniversary of the United States' declaration of war with Spain.

Mrs. C. H. Lindsay was elected president of the Westminster Bible class of the First Presbyterian Sunday school at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. Jesse Wood on West Columbia street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, April 24, 1926.

Four persons were killed in a wind storm of tornado proportions which swept Texas and Oklahoma.

Mayor Earl Hazen announced that with increase of automobile traffic resulting from the advent of spring, traffic ordinances here would be strictly enforced. Similar action was to be taken by county authorities, it was reported, and Deputy Sheriff Vane Freland prepared for motorcycle patrol service on the highways.

President Coolidge announced that reports from various federal departments indicated a favorable business outlook for the summer. Recent recession of the stock market which led to the survey was declared to be a natural reaction and without significance to general business conditions of the country.

The Canto club arranged to present a cantata, "The Highwayman." May 4 at the Grand theater in observance of national music week.

The weekly report of City Clerk H. K. Stofer was taken as an indication of improving building conditions in Marion. Building permits issued during the week totalled $9,610. Two permits were for new dwellings, three for additions to dwellings and eight for garages.

"Ever Normal Fish Freezer" Advocated

By The Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Addressing the convention of the Gulf Coast Fishermen's Union, Dr R. A. Kahn, of the Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of Interior, said:

"Loans are used by the Department of Agriculture in some cases in which it is desired to support a certain parity price. Such an idea could conceivably be developed for the fisheries to provide the 'ever normal fish freezer' as compared with agriculture's concept of the 'ever normal granary.' Fish could be bought or pledged for loans during times of glut to be held over for times of scarcity."

Draft Dodgers Still at It

By BRACK CURRY

WASHINGTON—Draft dodging did not stop with V-J day.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has handled more than 26,000 reports of Selective Service violations since Aug. 14, 1945. In March alone, about 5,000 new cases chiefly involving men under 26, were opened by the FBI. The figure for February was 3,055.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says more new cases are being opened daily.

Hoover told me that [illegible] Japanese surrendered, [illegible] totaling more than 2,100 [illegible] have been voted out to nearly 1,000 violators of the Selective Service Act. The majority of those convicted, however, were persons between 26 and 30 years of age whose violations occurred prior to V-J day.

Most Before V-J Day

Similarly, of the 12,300 pending Selective Service cases now in the FBI's files, the majority were opened prior to V-J day and involved registrants over 26.

He pointed out that many registrants [illegible] deliberately violate the draft act and said the FBI is following its practice of making [illegible] men available to the armed forces rather than putting them in jail.

Hoover said that since 1940, when Congress passed the Selective Service Act, the FBI has handled 349,922 draft cases involving [illegible] men to fill more than 30 [illegible] calls.

Over 14,000 of the [illegible] were [illegible] who [illegible] registered, when the [illegible] joined the armed forces or subsequently escaped their [illegible] duties.

Motives used by peace time draft evaders were just as varied and [illegible] as during the war," Hoover said.

On one occasion the FBI was asked to arrest identical twin brothers in Alabama. Agents found that the twins held birth certificates listing the names as below the induction age. Yet they appeared to be eligible for the draft.

The certificates were based on an affidavit by a notary public who certified that he had examined the family Bible to establish the birth date. Examiners in the FBI laboratory checked the Bible.

Deception Discovered

Births of the twins allegedly were [illegible] when they occurred, but the FBI found that this edition of the Bible was not authorized for printing before March 1939. They also discovered that the volume bore evidence of artificial aging.

Hoover said further investigation disclosed that the parents and the notary public "had deliberately arranged the preparation of the false birth certificates. All three were convicted of violating the Selective Service act."

Another investigation turned up a murderer.

"This man religiously kept in touch with his draft board until Thanksgiving, 1944," Hoover related. "Shortly thereafter his board was unable to locate him.

"Local officers and FBI agents apprehended him two years later and learned that about Thanksgiving, 1944, this man had been hunting, and during an argument he shot and killed his hunting companion.

"He then fled. At the October, 1945, term of court in a southern state he was sentenced to 20 years in prison on the murder charge."

It is certainly confusing to outsiders who have no way of knowing whether the person they are speaking to is a Ph.D. or a surgeon. Vaudeville audiences are so used to being told to "watch the professor" perform some trick of legerdemain that the comparison of a college professor is anything but flattering. CPA Says U. S. Tire Industry May Top Goal of 66,000,000

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 24—Good news for motorists: The rubber industry bids fair to surpass its biggest production goal of 66,000,000 new passenger tires this year.

Civilian production officials, making spot checks of industry today, say the record output drive was being helped by new cotton yarn controls promised late last week.

The industry's goal is 10,400,000 more than the record 1941 total of 55,600,000 passenger tires produced in the previous banner year of 1941.

Despite the present gas rationing, CPA officials said, motorists should be able to get enough gasoline to keep on the road if they will "shop early" for tires.

As officials see it, motorists can get CPA clearance to travel "full journey" tires if they can show that they will be in need of new tires in 10 days to two weeks. Even one of the retreads is not good for a spare.

Placing the emphasis on replacements for trucks, CPA officials said that "at least 70 per cent of the 1946 production will be used for that purpose."

Shop Early

As officials see it, motorists who can get CPA clearance to travel "full journey" tires if they can show that they will be in need of new tires in 10 days to two weeks. Even one of the retreads is not good for a spare.

Placing the emphasis on replacements for trucks, CPA officials said that "at least 70 per cent of the 1946 production will be used for that purpose."

Some Build Inventories

The shortage of tires and tubes has been badly felt in many areas. In fact, dealers in some areas are building up some inventory supplies. The farm is one of tractor and other farming tires is one such area.

In the passenger tire field, the expected 25 per cent increase in demand during the summer probably will offset the end-of-the-year progress of the tire companies, CPA officials said.

Not until late in the year, they predicted, will dealers have in stock full supplies for motorists and not until then will it be possible to lift the ruling against a spare tire on new automobiles.

THREAT TO SCHACHT, GESTAPO MAN BARED

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, April 24—Justice Robert H. Jackson told the international military tribunal today threats had been uttered in the courtroom that morning against Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former reichsbank president, and a Gestapo officer who was about to testify.

The American prosecutor's assertion threw the courtroom into turmoil just as the Gestapo officer, Hans Bernd Von Gisevius, attempted to testify.

The witness barely had started to mention a conversation he had overheard between Otto Stuckart, attorney for Hermann Goering, and Rudolf Dix, counsel for Schacht, when Stuckart leaped to his feet protesting.

He objected to testimony concerning a "private conversation," but Jackson interposed.

Stuckart then told the court he had discussed Gisevius' impending appearance at the trial with Goering last night and that Goering had told him he was intent on keeping out of the testimony any reference to the late Field Marshal Werner Von Blomberg's marriage.

Goering said Schacht was expected to speak about this thing," Stuckart declared. "He said then he would drop any considered objection." That is what I told Dr. Dix. I did not even know Gisevius was present."

Dix then told the court that Stuckart came to him and said:

"Listen, Goering has the point of view that Gisevius can attack him as much as he pleases but if he attacks the dead Blomberg, then Goering will tell things about his court and several things against Schacht that will be dangerous."

Gisevius began lashing at Goering from the time he started testifying. He said he had not intended to mention Von Blomberg's marriage—an act which would have required the field marshal as minister of war in 1938—but had planned to speak of other matters involving Von Blomberg.

"I know why Goering doesn't want me to speak about this because it is the worst deed he has ever done, the Gestapo officer said. "Goering here is using a close of rivalry to try to silence me."

The court ruled that Gisevius should proceed with his story.

Compromise Hinted in Chinese Crisis

By The Associated Press

CHUNGKING, April 24—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek postponed today the convocation of the national assembly as the Communists had demanded, prompting widespread belief here that a compromise was near in the Manchurian civil war and other internal problems.

The generalissimo said the government would set a date later for the assembly, which had been scheduled to meet May 5 at Nanking to consider China's new constitution.

GALION CLUB HITS FIRING OF COACH

Special to The Star

GALION, April 24—The second Galion service club to call upon the Galion Board of Education to clarify their reasons for not rehiring the athletic coach, Robert R. Sheffer, following his outstanding records in both football and basketball during the past two years, is the Galion Junior Chamber of Commerce.

At the meeting of the Jaycees, Monday night, the club passed the following resolution: "Be it resolved that the Junior Chamber of Commerce requests the Galion Board of Education to present publicly a detailed explanation of the reasons for their recent action concerning removal of Robert Sheffer from his coaching duties."

The Galion Rotary club at its meeting, Monday night, also passed a resolution regarding the situation.

J. C. Gay, a school board member announced his resignation on April 12 from the board because Coach Sheffer was demoted after Gay had to leave the board meeting, and also because the board had not given charges to substantiate its action in the matter.

One thing we do know in advance. There will have to be some vigorous horse-trading if the conference is to succeed. To use more diplomatic language there must be concessions.

Doctors Try To Save Sailor Who Slew 9

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, April 24 — Navy investigators' hopes of getting Seaman William Smith's own story of why he went berserk suddenly aboard an LST and killed nine shipmates before severely injuring himself rested today on the skill of many doctors.

Smith was reported last night as having a 50-50 chance to survive three self-inflicted knife wounds. The introspective, 19-year-old Asheville, N. C., youth and one of his victims, S2/c George E. Simpson, 18, Waterbury, Conn., were treated aboard the hospital ship Repose.

About 3 a. m. yesterday, Smith entered the sleeping quarters of 30 shipmates and opened fire with a carbine and a pistol.

Strikes Kill Possible Production Record

WASHINGTON, April 24 — Strikes have killed any chance for an all time record production of farm machinery this year, C. B. Heller, director of the equipment division of the civilian production administration said today.

Writing to Senator Young (R-ND) Heller said CPA officials hoped 1946 product on would be 30 per cent greater than the 1945 record output because demand has multiplied. Lack of machinery is cutting farm production, some farm leaders have asserted.

Heller said the "serious effects which have already occurred from irreplaceable losses such as steel production of steel due to recent work stoppages 'cannot now be overcome'."

Heller said production in January 1946 was at high level, but dropped about 20 per cent in February.

War' Is Never Over for American Youth Who Boost Kenton's Toy Pistol Factory

GENE AUTRY watches toy models of his famous "six-shooter" being made at Kenton, O., factory.

Kenton Hardware, key indus- ... the northwestern Ohio ... was forced to close while ...ment plants had a mushroom ... all over the country. Now ... is expected to boom

JOE SOLOMON, pattern maker, shows Autry how he copied pistol.

Although the local factory had made toy cap pistols for many years, it was not until 1937 that the demand put the business on an international scope. That year the company officials pondered the question: "Why not a pistol modeled after the western six-shooter, instead of the seasonal cap pistol?"

Answering their own question, they proceeded with plans for production. W. R. Bixler, manager, together with his New York sales manager, L. A. Carll, began to look for a popular movie star for whom they could name the pistol. It didn't take long to decide that Gene Autry, most popular of all western stars, was the one.

Gene sent his own pearl-handled six-shooter to Kenton and Joe Solomon, veteran pattern-maker of the plant, copied it.

Optimistically, the company counted on selling at least 100,000 of the pistols, but they reckoned without young America. Orders flowed in, and from 1938 to 1942 more than four and three-quarter million of the toy guns were sold in junior and senior sizes. Not only were American boys "arming," but orders came in from England, Ireland, South America, and even far-away Australia.

Such a sensation was the black gunmetal gun, with plastic pearl handle that production jumped to nearly 10,000 a day.

Autry visited the Kenton plant soon after production began. Recently discharged from the Army, he soon will be "back in the saddle" again, riding across the silver screen in the country's movie houses.

And American youths will be charging across the backlots, "letting 'em have it," supreme and unchallenged in their make-believe world.

Interest of Night Crowd at Circus Centers on Burma

An estimated 2,000 persons witnessed the Mills Brothers' three-ring circus held yesterday at the Drake lot on Fairground street.

Although the crowd at the afternoon performance was small, the tent was filled for the evening show. One of the attractions was the performance of Burma, the elephant that broke loose from her keeper yesterday and wandered through gardens and across lawns in an unrehearsed act all her own. But at last night's show she submitted willingly to the wishes of her trainer.

The circus was showing in Delaware today and will move to Marysville tomorrow for a one-day performance. It came to Marion from Mansfield.

The local V. F. W., sponsors of the show, will share in the receipts, with funds going toward the purchase of a $12,000 building for club room purposes. The building is located at 130 Court street and will give the V. F. W. and Auxiliary space for club rooms, a meeting hall, kitchen, dining room and other facilities. The V. F. W.'s share of the receipts has not yet been determined.

OSMENA CLAIMS LEAD IN PHILIPPINE VOTING

By The Associated Press

MANILA, April 24—President Sergio Osmena claimed today to have forged into the lead for President of the Philippines on unofficial returns from Pampanga province, where two of his staunchest supporters were killed and a third wounded by three masked men.

Senate President Manual Roxas rolled up a 34,000 lead in Manila on the basis of unofficial returns from 541 of the city's 571 precincts, but Osmena headquarters claimed the President led in Pampanga province alone by 67,000.

More than 4,000 precincts voted yesterday throughout the islands.

It was at Bacolor in Pampanga that three masked men shot and killed Edilberto Joven, 62, president of the Pampanga Democratic Alliance, and Ricardo Joven, 20, his son. Edilberto's brother, Francisco Joven, 55, was wounded. The Alliance strongly supported Osmena.

Roxas, 54, long-time political figure in the commonwealth government, remained in hiding. His secretary said reports had spread that an attempt would be made to kidnap him.

Osmena, 68, and a lifetime political leader in the islands, succeeded the late Manuel L. Quezon as President. Previously topping Quezon on the Philippines political scene, Osmena stepped down a notch in the mid-1930's when voters favored Quezon's independence ideas over Osmena's.

The winner in their race will be President of the Republic of the Philippines, scheduled to be established on July 4 when independence from the United States is achieved.

Publisher Sees Role for Press

President of National Association Says Papers Must Support Postwar Programs.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 24—W. G. Chandler, president of the American Newspaper Publishers association, in a speech opening the general sessions of the ANPA's 60th annual convention, reviewed the war-time role of America's publishers and declared they would be called upon again "to inform and inspire the public for mutual good."

"President Truman has called for conservation of foods for the underfed victims of global war," he said in a prepared address.

"Next month we will be asked to support the recommendations of the President's highway safety conference."

Outline Purposes

Chandler outlined the purpose of the convention, which opened yesterday as follows:

"Our function is not to decide what newspapers will print, but rather to seek ways and means for assuring publishers the facilities for printing that which needs to be read."

He continued:

"Some publishers present have observed the conduct of publication in other lands. They have seen the publication of news and opinion restricted or denied through control of vital materials. Only in Canada and the U. S. A. under war conditions have publishers been supplied with an amount of newsprint sufficient to safeguard the public interest.

"Wherever a government controls the raw materials of expression, that is, the paper on which thoughts are recorded, there can be no sure means of free expression. It is the good fortune of those of us in North America that we have these materials."

The ANPA's press communications committee reported that the federal communications commission's attitude against newspaper ownership of radio stations "is one that should have the watchful attention of publishers."

Several Reports

It was one of 15 standing committee reports made at the convention.

The committee advised publishers that although a projected investigation of newspaper ownership of radio stations had been called off by the FCC several years ago, "it is evident that the thinking of the present commission is along lines that brought about" the issuance of the original order.

The traffic committee took note of the possibility of a general hike in freight rates and advised that "any increase in freight rates on newsprint will eventually be reflected in the sales price."

COMPANY M RATES THIRD IN REGIMENT

Report on Inspection Received at Weekly Drill.

Company M, Ohio State Guard, received third place honors in the Fourth Regiment in its federal inspection held at the Armory last March 17, according to an official inspection report read Tuesday night at the company's regular drill meeting.

The local guard company competed with 15 other companies in the Fourth Regiment and received a rating of "very satisfactory." The local unit received 1404 points out of a possible 200. The inspection was conducted by Capt. Ira A. Davis of Fort Hayes, Columbus.

Final plans for Company M's family night program, to be held in the Armory next Tuesday night were made at last night's drill session. All guard members and their families are invited. Corporals of the company will have charge of the program and Cpl. Carl Markley of the cook staff is in charge of the refreshments.

Entertainment will include motion pictures featuring the New Britain campaign, shown by Capt. Edwin Rackham, local Army recruiting officer.

Tuesday night's drill schedule included close order drill and special operations formations by Lt. Howard E. Fogle and Inferior guard by Sgt. John Spicer.

Tentative plans for a recruiting campaign to be held in the near future at the court house are now being made by Lt. Fogle.

BRIGHT SPOT SEEN FOR BIG 4 PARLEY

By The Associated Press

PARIS, April 24 — A unanimous fact-finding report by a four-power commission which visited the disputed Italian-Yugoslav border area was forecast authoritatively today as one bright spot in the somewhat gloomy picture shaping up for the Big Four foreign ministers' conference which convenes here tomorrow.

One member of the Big Four commission — representing Britain, France, Russia and the United States — predicted that despite disagreements on where the boundary should be, Russians and westerners alike would be able to agree on economic and ethnic facts involved.

The deputy foreign ministers, charged with preliminary work on the peace treaties, were scheduled to meet today to fix the exact hour for the first session of their chiefs tomorrow, tentatively scheduled for 3 p. m. (9 a. m. EST).

Scheduled to participate in the face-to-face conferences called in an effort to iron out numerous international problems were Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain, Former Minister Georges Bidault of France, Foreign Minister Vyacheslaw M. Molotov of Russia and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes of the United States.

Byrnes, accompanied by Senator Connally (D-Texas) and Vandenberg (R-Mich) arrived at Orly airport shortly after noon today in President Truman's plane, "The Sacred Cow."

The Yugoslav-Italian border dispute was one of four major points on which the Russians disagreed with the Americans and British in drafting the Italian peace treaty. Others were the future of Italian colonies in Africa, reparations and the future of the Dodecanese islands.

Rotarians Hear Railway Official

D. E. MUMFORD

Speaking before the Rotary club in its weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday at Hotel Harding, D. E. Mumford, assistant general safety agent for the New York Central railroad, stressed the need for greater safety on the highways and particularly at grade crossings.

He said that the railroads have made great progress in reducing deaths and injuries through a well-planned program emphasizing education and rule enforcement plus cooperation between employer and employe. He stated that the railroads are vitally concerned in the prevention of accidents at grade crossings, but emphasized the fact that to succeed in this undertaking will require close co-operation between railroads and the public.

Mr. Mumford in referring to crossing accidents said, "Upon all railroads of the United States these accidents result in an average yearly toll of 1,875 deaths and 4,700 injuries.

Mr. Mumford stated that unlike employe accidents, which are largely within the control of the railroads, crossing accidents are in a large measure beyond the control of the railroads. Therefore, there is a joint responsibility as between the railroads and the public.

KIN OF MARIONITE VICTIM OF ATTACK

Unknown Assailant Beats Chicago Woman with Hammer.

Mrs. Harley Burggraf of 139 Charles street received word Tuesday that her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dorothy Burggraf, 18, of Chicago, is in St. Anthony's hospital in Chicago suffering from injuries suffered when she was severely beaten Friday night by a man who pounded her on the head with a hammer. It occurred in front of the house next door to where the young woman's mother lives.

A department store cashier, Mrs. Burggraf was on her way to her mother's home. She said the man followed her for about two blocks before he overtook her and began beating her. Her husband, Nelly Everal Burggraf, who is a machinist, was in her mother's house, heard his wife scream and ran to her aid. However, by that time her assailant had fled. She said she knew of no reason for the attack. Her scalp was cut in several places.

Mr. Burggraf was recently discharged from the Navy. The couple were married March 7, this year, in Chicago.

WIFE WINS DIVORCE FROM DAD OF QUADS

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, April 24—Mrs. William Thompson, 27-year-old beauty operator, won a swift divorce today from the former AAF sergeant who fathered quadruplets by an English WAAF.

Judge Thomas H. Marshall issued the decree a short time after hearing Mrs. Thompson's story at a brief hearing.

Thompson, appearing excited and happy, later told newsmen he hoped to bring the English girl, Norah Carpenter, and their three surviving children to America as quickly as possible, perhaps by airliner.

"I hope to marry her in Pittsburgh, but I am not sure where or when," he said. "I already have a four-room apartment promised me when I can get them here."

Thompson has sent the U. S. embassy in London a guarantee that he will support the family. He still has to send Miss Carpenter a copy of the divorce decree and a certificate of intention to marry her. She has to present these papers to the embassy in London for approval of her trip here.

Mrs. Thompson testified "the case's notoriety" had subjected her to "indignities." She said "curious" people embarrassed her, that she was "pointed out" on the street, spent "many a sleepless night," and lost 23 pounds.

The pretty brunette woman, modishly garbed in cerise and black, said she first received word of the case March 1, 1944, when a newsman telephoned from New York to say her husband, then an Army air forces sergeant, was the father of quadruplets in England.

Judge Marshall congratulated Mrs. Thompson for charging indignities rather than "other grounds."

NEWSMEN HEAR LACK OF PAPER NOT OVER

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 24 — The American Newspaper Publishers association was warned today that despite high-level production of newsprint the demand was so great that shortages would continue into 1947.

The newsprint report submitted to the 60th annual meeting declared "the short range view for U. S. publishers is, any increase in supply will be minor."

The present world shortage was laid to "loss of production of mills hurt by the war, demands on available supply by newsmen, mills switching to the manufacture of other grades of paper and increase in demand by newspapers."

The long range view will be determined by potential consumption in the United States, the report said. Based on the per capita use of 67.2 pounds of newsprint in 1929 and the present population the demand would be for 4,342,213 tons annually, which is 412,000 tons more than the greatest consumption year, 1941.

"A demand of anywhere near this amount would mean a shortage for many years," the report warned.

Pointing out it takes a half ton of coal to make a ton of newsprint, the report viewed the coal stoppage as a threat to production if continued much longer.

Marion's Wally Schang, Vet of 7 Series, Rated Among All-Time Stars

BY JIM DARBY

Rated one of the best catchers in baseball history, Cardinal Manager Wally Schang has a record of more than 18 years in the American League behind him. He has played in seven World Series, three with the Philadelphia Athletics, three with the New York Yankees and one with the Boston Red Sox.

Schang is starting his first full season as boss of the Marion Ohio State League entry. He came here in May 1945.

Schang, now 56, started out in baseball life as an infielder with the Depew, N. Y., semi-pro club in 1910. One day in mid-season his brother Bob, who caught for the same club, split his finger and Wally made his debut as a catcher. He caught for the rest of the season.

Gets First Break

His break in professional ball came when a scout for the Buffalo club of the International League came to see his brother and stayed to sign Wally. He played with Buffalo the entire 1912 season.

In June on his first trip to the plate as a professional slugger he belted out a single. The Philadelphia Athletics drafted him that fall.

Some of his teammates that first year in the big time were Joe Judge, Charley Jamieson, Marion Stock, Jimmy Walsh, Eddie Murphy, Eddie Plank, Frank (Home Run) Baker, Jack Berry, Eddie Collins, Stuffy McGinnis, Rube Bressler, Amos Strunk, Jack Coombs, Herb Pennock, Bullet Joe Bush and Ira Thomas.

It was as a pinch hitter against the offerings of Ed Walsh of the White Sox that Wally made his first appearance at the plate in the majors. "I went out on a ground on a third strike," he says of that eventful moment.

Caught Chief Bender

The immortal pitcher Chief Bender was responsible for his first season behind the plate in the majors. Near mid-season Bender asked Connie Mack, Athletic pilot, to "put the kid in there, I'll pitch to him."

The battery of Bender and Schang won that game. From that day forward the Chief wouldn't have anyone else behind the plate when he was hurling. Wally is proud of the fact that Bender never lost a game when Wally caught him.

He recalls that in the first game he came to bat with a rousing single to the outfield when the hit and run play was on.

The A's won the flag that year and went on to pin the New York Giants ears back four games to one. Wally caught the four winners.

Likes to Catch Fast Hurlers

He remembers a home run he got off Doc Crandall in the first game of the series. Off the great Christy Mathewson he got just one hit, a single.

Wally was first string catcher with Connie Mack's fabulous A's during the 1914 season and again they took the American league pennant. In the World Series it was a sadder tale. George Stallings' "miracle team" Boston Braves downed them four straight games with Wally catching all of them.

Included on the Braves roster for that series were Rabbit Maranville, Charley Deal, Johnny Evers, Charley Schmidt, and Hank Gowdy.

Connie Mack broke up his million dollar infield after the series although Wally stayed with the A's until the end of the 1917 season.

Thinks Bender Is Tops

Although he caught some great pitchers during his years in the majors he ranks with Bender as the best of them all. "In my estimation Chief Bender was the greatest pitcher I ever caught. Maybe I'm prejudiced, but he was the first big league hurler I caught, and the Chief pitched and won the first World Series game I ever caught," he said.

The old spitball was the hardest to catch, he said, but in present day pitching it is the knuckle ball. "The faster a pitcher is," he adds, "the easier he is to catch."

Of Bender he says, "You could almost set in a rocking chair and catch him. His control was that good."

After five years with the A's, Schang was traded to the Boston Red Sox, then under Manager Ed Barrow. They won the pennant Wally's first year.

Wally caught five of the six World Series games. The Red Sox won over the Chicago Cubs with a pitcher named Babe Ruth turning in 1-0 and 3-2 games.

Ruth No Sleuth

"Ruth was a great hurler," Wally says, "but his curve was not so good. He had a good fast ball, though. However, he knew very little about his batters." He recalls that in 1916 Ruth won a 14-inning World Series game from Brooklyn with a 2-1 score.

Wally stayed with the Red Sox until 1921 when he was traded to the Yankees. He was with the New York club until 1928. During his stay with them they won the pennant three straight years, 1921-22-23.

He caught every game of the three World Series he saw A's wearing the Yankee uniform. The New York Giants trimmed the Yankees five games to three in 1921. The Yankee pitching staff that year included Herb Pennock, Bob Shawkey, Carl Mays, Waite Hoyt, Sad Sam Jones and Joe Bush.

The Yanks lost four and tied one of the 1922 series, the Giants taking the championship. In 1923 they won four games to one.

Wally went to the St. Louis Browns in 1926 and played there through 1929. In 1930 he went back to the Philadelphia Athletics. The A's won the flag and defeated the St. Louis Cardinals four games to two in the series.

By now Wally had been in the majors 18 years. The relentless pressure of the younger youth told, and Wally didn't get any of the catching in that series. A man named Mickey Cochrane was first string catcher.

Ended at Chattanooga

Next year he was traded to the Detroit Tigers, as fifth American League club. In July he was released to Chattanooga of the Southern Association where he finished out the season which was his last as a full time player.

He wound up his career in majors with a lifetime average of .285. One year he doesn't remember which, he hit .333. With the winning or tying run on base he was more likely to see a .350 hitter.

(Second and final installment on Wally Schang's career will appear tomorrow.)

ED HEAD'S NO-HITTER BOLSTERS DODGER'S TITLE CHANCES

Ex-GI Blanks Boston 5 to 0; Cards Toss Reds in Cellar

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ed Head's no-hitter dwarfs the rest of the baseball news today, emphasizing the latent strength of a Brooklyn staff that may give the St. Louis Cardinals many anxious moments.

Not so long ago in Sanford, Fla., President Branch Rickey of the Flock despaired of the Dodger hurling corps. B. R. said he didn't have a single first class "stopper" in the bunch.

That was before Kirby Higbe returned from the Army, before Joe Hatten signed a contract, before anybody ever heard of Hank Behrman and—before Head proved his right arm was sound.

The lean righthander from Selma, La., couldn't have picked a more effective way of proving to the Brooklyn management that he had completely recovered from arm trouble that once threatened to end his big league career.

First Start Since '44

Making his first start since July, 1944, the ex-GI definitely established himself as a first line chucker on Leo Durocher's list although the skipper wasn't around to see the fun. Leo was busy appearing in a Brooklyn court in connection with his alleged battle with a fan at Ebbetts Field last summer.

Head was the last of the first string hurlers to get a starting shot as Durocher had paraded Hal Gregg, Behrman, Vic Lombardi, Higbe, Hatten and Ralph Branca in order.

The 26-year-old chucker, who started life as a lefthander but shifted over to the other side after breaking his left arm in an accident, left little to be desired. Several hundred of the 26,787 Brooklyn customers mobbed him with congratulations after the final out.

Head walked three men and one got a life on an error by shortstop Pee Wee Reese. Fine fielding plays saved him three times. Rookie Carl Furillo ran to the exit gate in right center to drag down Tommy Holmes' long drive and Pete Reiser made a fine stop on Al Roberge's smash in the third.

The most exciting touch was provided by rookie catcher Ferrell Anderson who had but his first big league homer in the sixth for the final run of the Brooks' 5-0 margin over Boston's Mort Cooper. After Head walked pinch hitter Chuck Workman in the ninth, he struck out Connie Ryan and Anderson's bullet peg to first picked off Workman for a most important double play.

It was a sixth straight win for the Dodgers but they needed it to remain in a first place tie with the St. Louis Cardinals who also reeled off a sixth successive victory at the expense of Cincinnati, 3-2. Reliefer Ken Burkhart, the second of three Red Bird chuckers, received the credit when three singles, an error and an outfield fly cost Nate (Hard Luck) Andrews another setback.

Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati's six-foot five-inch right hander, makes his debut as a major league starter today in the finale of the Reds' three-game series with the Cardinals.

Blackwell, an ex-GI who appeared briefly in a relief role last week, is considered the most promising young pitcher on the Redleg staff. He won 15 and lost 10 for Syracuse in 1942 before entering the Army.

Manager Eddie Dyer has named Lefty Howie Pollet to start for St. Louis.

Passeau Gets No. 1

Freshman Billy Cox bobbled a ball at shortstop that helped Chicago trim Pittsburgh, 3-1, for Claude Passeau's first win of the campaign. Rookie Ad Ablosta matched Passeau's five-hit effort but walked 10 men.

Oscar Judd bounced back from an opening day shellacking to toss Philadelphia to an 8-1 edge over the New York Giants with the help of Ron Northey's two-run homer off Harry Feldman.

The New York Yankees advanced into a first place tie with Boston by blanking Philadelphia, 2-0. It was a second straight nod for Al Gettel, who traveled north with the Yanks' "B" squad, over the Mackmen. Nick Etten's two-run homer doomed Lum Harris.

Washington pulled the Red Sox back into a deadlock with the Yanks by scoring six times in the 11th for an 8-2 verdict over Fireman Mike Ryba. Roger Wolff finally received credit for the Nats' triumph after the wild 11th in which Gerry Priddy homered with two on.

Boston and New York open an interesting two-game series at Fenway park today.

Bill Dietrich outpitched Al Benton as Chicago trimmed Detroit, 3-1, although a stomach ailment forced Dietrich to retire after seven frames. Joe Haynes, who relieved was just as good, protecting a five-hit effort.

A scheduled Cleveland at St. Louis contest was rained out.

Bob Quinn, Old Marion Star, Enters Baseball Roll of Honor

In First Group Elected for Award; Eleven Make Hall of Fame.

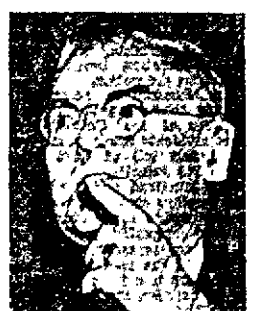
J. A. (Bob) Quinn, former Marion baseball player of some 45 years ago, has been named to the first honor rolls of baseball by a special oldtimers committee appointed by the late Commissioner K. M. Landis to honor baseball figures who otherwise might never be elected. Quinn was elected for his work as an executive, The Associated Press reported today.

The honor rolls were created to honor men who made outstanding contributions other than as active players. Named to the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., were 11 players including the famous Chicago Cubs' double play combination of Tinker to Evers to Chance.

Caught for Marion

Quinn first played baseball in Marion with an independent pro team owned by Edson F. Campbell of 316 East Church street. He was a catcher.

Former acquaintances recall that Quinn played on a Marion team which forced the Cincinnati Reds to go 10 innings to defeat them in an exhibition game at Marion.



BOB QUINN

Quinn went from here to the Columbus Senators where he caught for part of a season. He became business manager and from then on was connected with the executive side of baseball. He was later with the St. Louis Browns, Brooklyn and the Boston Braves.

Now connected with the Wilson Sport Goods Company, Quinn will be one of the guests of honors at the baseball banquet at Masonic Temple April 29.

Real Old Timers

Joe Tinker was the Cubs' shortstop from 1902 to 1912 while Johnny Evers was playing second base and Frank Chance, "The Peerless Leader," was on first base and managing most of the time.

Two outfielders were selected, Jesse Burkett who hit .423 and .410 for Cleveland in the National league in 1895 and 1896 and later starred with the St. Louis Browns, and Tom McCarthy, a star of the Browns in the old "four time winners" days.

Of the six pitchers elected by the committee, two were lefthanders—Rube Waddell, the eccentric ace of Philadelphia Athletics from 1902 to 1907 and Eddie Plank who was his teammate. Big Ed Walsh of the Chicago White Sox, who won 40 games in 1908, was picked, as were Jack Chesbro, who won 14 straight for the New York Highlanders in 1905, and Clark Griffith who pitched and managed at Chicago, New York, Cincinnati and Washington. Joe (Iron Man) McGinnity of the New York Giants, a 35-game winner for John McGraw in 1904 was the sixth hurler.

First Honor Rolls

The committee also announced, after its meeting yesterday in the New York Yankees' office, its first selections to the honor rolls of baseball, created to honor men who made outstanding contributions other than as active players.

Baseball writers named were:

Walter Barnes and T. H. Murnane of Boston, Harry E. Cross, Sid Mercer, William Hannah, William Slocum, George Tilden and Joe Vila of New York, Frank Hough of Philadelphia, Cy Sanborn of Chicago, John B. Sheridan of St. Louis and Frank Richter.

Umpires named were:

Thomas Connolly, William Dineen, Robert Emslie, William Evans, John Gaffney, Timothy Hurst, William Klem, "Honest John" Kelly, Thomas Lynch, "Silk" O'Loughlin and Jack Sheridan.

Managers named were:

William Carrigan, Edward Hanlon, Miller J. Huggins, Frank Seeley and John M. Ward.

Executives named, in addition to Quinn, were:

E. S. Barnard, Edward G. Barrow, John Bruce, John T. Brush, Barney Dreyfuss, Charles Ebbets, August Herrmann, John A. Heydler, Arthur H. Soden and Nicholas Young.

Hurler for Navy All-Stars Tries for Spot with Cards

Fred E. Fass, a righthanded pitcher from Peoria, Ill., is now working out with the Marion Cardinals. He was 24 years old Easter and has just been released from the Navy after four years. He stands six feet one, weighs 180.

His arrival brings to five the number of ex-servicemen now trying out for baseball berths with the locals. Pitchers Dan Malloy, Joe Rosebery and Douglas Nicholson and catcher James Lilly are also veterans.

While in the Navy, Lilly played on the Pacific championship service team, the only non-professional player on the squad. Some of his teammates were Johnny Mize, Pee Wee Reese, Billy Herman, Cookie Lavagetto, Specter Dickey and Hugh Casey.

Helping Manager Wally Schang with his workouts are St. Louis Cardinal scouts Walter Shannon and Les Wilson. Schang and Cardinal officials aren't predicting a pennant this year but are betting on finishing in the first division.

Ben Kerner of Buffalo concessionaire at Lincoln park has arrived in Marion and is busy with two assistants in getting ready for opening day. New stands and repairs on the old ones are occupying their time.

Browns To Aid Newark

Joe Kritch, St. Louis Browns scout, is assisting Newark Manager Bob Boken in tryouts at Newark, according to the Newark Advocate. He promised to send along five players who "will do someone a lot of good this year."

Newark is scheduling a "meet the manager" banquet for Boken, April 29. Sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the banquet is designed to present the former American Association infielder to Moundsmen fans.

CLEVELAND BANS PUG

CLEVELAND, O., April 24—The Cleveland boxing commission ordered the indefinite suspension of Jerry Berthiaume, Montreal heavyweight, for withdrawing from a fight last Saturday night. Claiming an injury to his left hand, the Montreal boxer withdrew in the third round of a scheduled 10 rounder with Tommy Yarosz. Dr. Arthur F. Hazelton, commission physician, said swollen knuckle was not sufficient cause for withdrawal.

LOUISVILLE SPOILS COLUMBUS OPENER

Colonels Defeat Birds 7 to 3; Toledo Wins 7-1.

By The Associated Press

Minneapolis and Louisville continued their deadlock duel for first place in the American Association yesterday by winning. The Millers edged out Kansas City, 3-2, and Louisville, last year's playoff champion, had little trouble dumping Columbus, 7-3. It was Columbus' home opener.

In the fourth game of the day, Toledo easily romped over Indianapolis, 7-1.

The Milwaukee Brewers, champions the past three years, still have a lot of catching up ahead of them before they get to the top of the league's standings, but they apparently are ready to make a spurt toward that goal after a somewhat shaky start.

The Brewers had won only one game in their first five starts until yesterday, when they beat St. Paul, 8-2. They found themselves in that game, however, and slammed out 13 hits, including a home run and six doubles, to move from the bottom of the standings into seventh place.

Part of their success was due to a ground rule instituted because of an all-time record crowd of 21,449 fans at the Saints' Lexington park. Hits that under ordinary circumstances would have been easy outs were ruled doubles because the crowd overflowed into the outfield.

PLEASANT THINCLADS TO INVADE STADIUM

Harding Trackmen To Battle Rural Squad Tomorrow.

Harding trackmen will meet their second test of the year when they meet Pleasant at the local stadium Thursday. In their first meet against Richwood April 17 the Prexies fell 46 to 18. Pleasant recently won a quadrangular rural meet.

All events except hurdles and the pole vault will be run Thursday. Harding's starters have had a chance to workout in favorable weather during the last several days and Coach George Niemi said they were showing improvement over previous form.

However, Niemi said on the whole he has been disappointed at the turnout for track. He believes that baseball, lack of interest and perhaps simple laziness has robbed Harding of several good track prospects.

BOUDREAU TO ASSIGN SPOT TO MACKIEWICZ

Will Try Purdue Star in Field Against Lefties.

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, April 24—In another move to bolster the Cleveland Indians' batting attack, Manager Lou Boudreau announced today that former Purdue football star Felix Mckiewicz will appear in centerfield for the Tribe in future contests against left-handed pitching.

Mackiewicz, who uncorked some standout wartime outfield feats for the Indians last year and ranked near the top of the roster in batting, will alternate with rookie Bob Lemon, a left-handed batter, in the center pasture, Boudreau said.

The Tribe makes a second attempt to take the field against the St. Louis Browns today following postponement of yesterday's contest because of rain. Tribe Rookie Charles (Red) Embree and veteran Denny Galehouse are slated for mound duty.

There are at least 13 different kinds of maple trees in the United States.

ELECTRICAL STRIKE ENTERS 100TH DAY

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, April 24 — The Westinghouse Electric Corp strike entered its 100th day today with company officials declaring the nation's longest major walkout had crippled reconversion in the electrical and allied industries.

From conference rooms here where negotiations were resumed last week after a months inactivity, came little news for the 78 000 production workers who quit work January 15 in the demand of the CIO-United Electrical Machine and Radio Workers for wage boosts of $2 a day —now reduced to 18½ cents an hour.

Employes in 23 Westinghouse plants over the nation are involved Westinghouse officials reported the workers are losing $942 000 per working day, or well over $43 000 000 to date Officials put total loss of business at $100 - 000 000

The company's current offer is for average increases of 15 1 cents an hour for all types of employes n figure it said would cost $3 - 000 000 a year or $4 000 000 more than the firms 1945 net profit Production workers who constitute more than half all hourly paid employes, would receive 17½ cents an hour and unionized salary employes would get $30 00 a month more

Westinghouse reported its monthly sales down to $10 000 - 000 compared to $57 000,000 this time last year and said the strike caused

"Complete stoppage of the company's reconversion and expansion program as well as hampered reconversion in allied industries A similar interruption noted of reconversion programs of the company's customers—industries, utilities railroads, appliance distributors and dealers builders, home-owners and housewives

The Pennsylvania railroad blamed the Westinghouse strike for a part of decline in 'general business' A division superintendent of the New York Central system said the strike—along with the coal work stoppage—was cutting into its revenue sharply

Struck plants include those at Cleveland, Mansfield and Lima Ohio
